

Rudplan's team has contributed to the successful development of air pollution control system projects for the mining and mineral processing industry. Rudplan can provide technical assistance to its clients for the planning, design, engineering, procurement and the construction management of air pollution control systems from the materials handling area to the mineral processing and product handling end.

Services:

- System design, procurement and installation;
- Dust control system (bag house, electrostatic precipitator, etc.);
- Environmental follow-up and monitoring.